

When I bought my vehicle it had XM radio in which I did not intend on using until I received a trial run. I liked it so much that I have since signed up for two years and don't think the FCC should stop them from providing a service that some of their customers rely on. Thanks for listening.
Tad